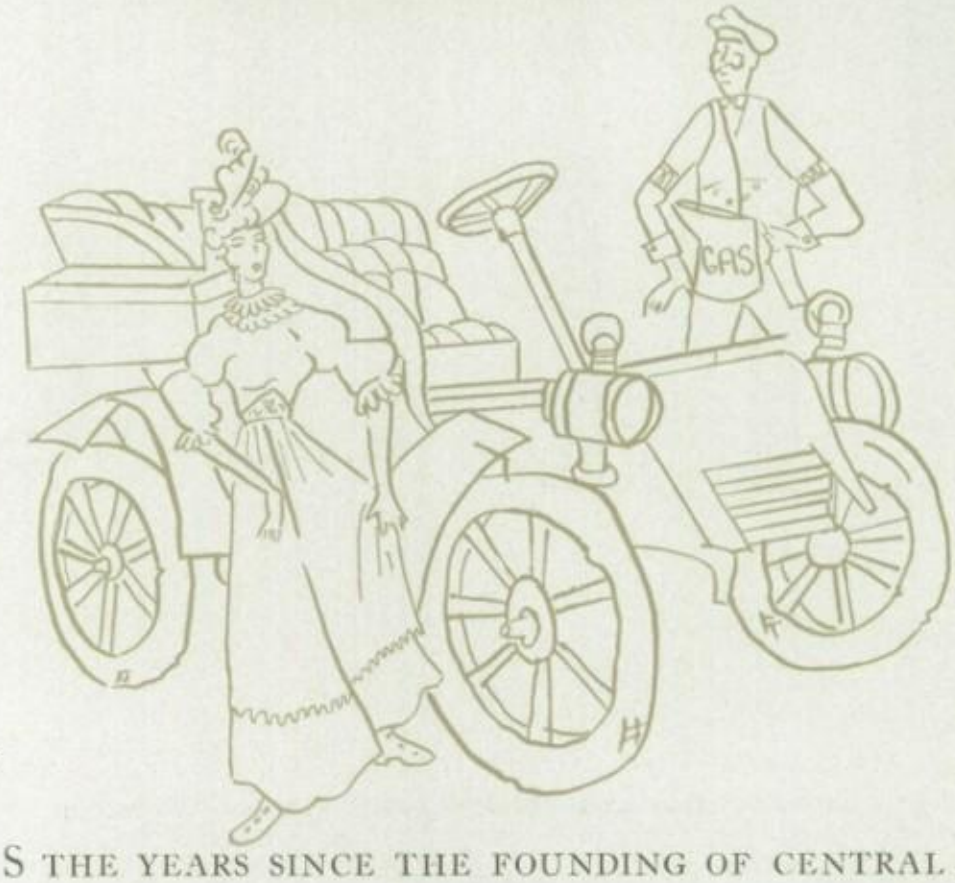
Foreword

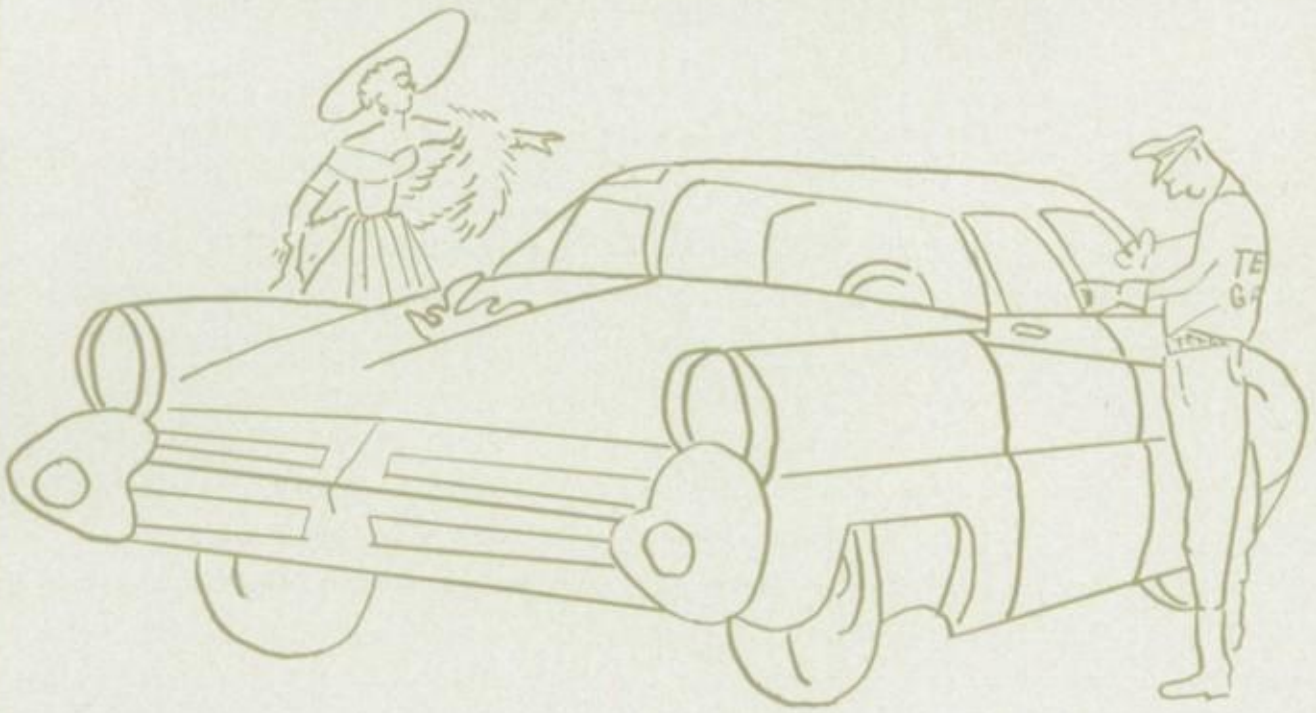


AS THE YEARS SINCE THE FOUNDING OF CENTRAL have slipped by, the old faces have given way to the new. Teachers and students, buildings and equipment have changed. The school is proud of the progress it has made during the half century. Forty-nine classes have experienced success and happiness, disappointment and sadness; but the fiftieth year has been the best one for all within the halls of Central. In honor of the anniversary the 1954 Tom Tom staff reviews

The Golden Year

Ann White

Dedication



STARTING WITH ONLY FIVE STUDENTS and three faculty members, Central has grown to 3,081 students and 119 faculty members. Many changes have taken place since the first school was opened on the corner of Fourth Street and Boston Avenue. The young people in the first graduating class were pioneers who laid a foundation of courage and faith in the American way, characteristics which dominate Central today. To commemorate the golden anniversary, the staff dedicates the 1954 Tom Tom to the

Changes at Central

Above: Phil Fenn, a student of today, is showing Suana Shea, who is dressed as a student of 1904, some of the ways in which Central has changed — the War Memorial, the cafeteria, and the main entrance.

Below: Phil is showing Suana the trophy room with Central's many and varied trophies. Betty Brothers, Suana Shea, and Janie Bredouw, dressed for an evening out in 1904, glance at an early Tom Tom.

Above: The statue of The Great Spirit stood on a wooden pedestal until this year. Now it is mounted on a beautiful granite base.

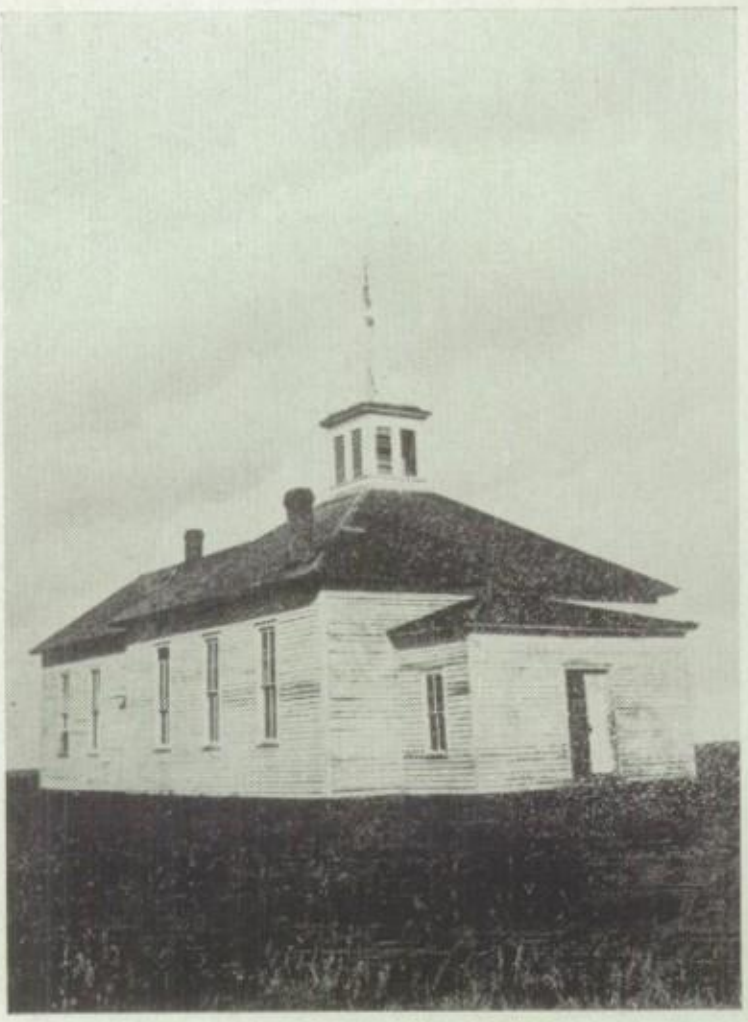
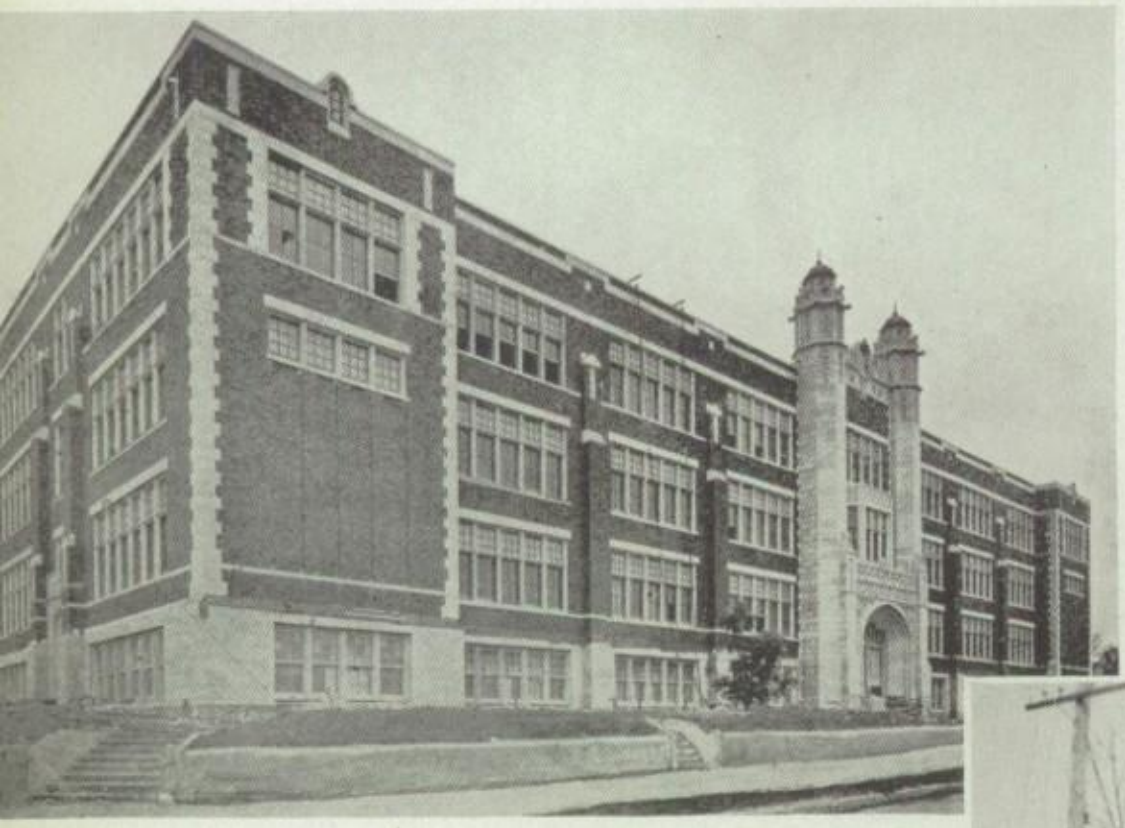
From horses and buggies to sleek automobiles, from low buildings to modern skyscrapers, from dirt streets to paved avenues—such are some of the changes shown in the two views of downtown Tulsa. Gone from today's picture are the telephone poles, the streetcar tracks, and the hitching post; but added are the traffic lights, the parking meters, and the television tower.



Tulsa's first school, a small white frame structure, was built in 1882 on the corner of Fourth Street and Boston Avenue.

Tulsa High School was opened in 1906. The building was located on South Boston Avenue between Fourth and Fifth Streets.



Left: When the new high school building was dedicated in 1917, the name was changed from Tulsa High School to Central High School.

Below: The south half of the building was added in 1922.

Below: Standing four stories high and covering an entire block, Central is the largest school in Tulsa.

Tulsa Central Has Grown Through the Years

WHEN THE INDIANS WERE RIDING on the open plains and the pioneers were coming into Oklahoma to settle, little did they realize that Tulsa would be the growing metropolis that it is today. The children that went to school did not have the big schools with the many diversified subjects that students have today.

TULSA'S FIRST SCHOOL, a small white frame structure, was built in 1882 on the corner of Fourth Street and Boston Avenue. Tulsa High School, opened in 1906, was located on South Boston Avenue between Fourth and Fifth Streets. In 1917 when north half of the present high school building was dedicated, it was no longer just Tulsa High School but Tulsa Central High School. The south half of the building was added in 1922.

THE MANUAL ARTS DEPARTMENT was originally in the main building; but as Central grew, more room was needed to house the many diversified vocational and industrial subjects. As a result, in 1925 the new Manual Arts building was erected three blocks south of the main building on Cincinnati Avenue.

IN THE YEAR 1904 there were five students enrolled at Central. This number was nothing compared to the enrollment in later years, but it was these five people who started making Central what it is today. In this same year there were only three faculty members. These also held positions as principal, assistant principal, and superintendent. In 1954 Central has 115 faculty members plus two principals, two librarians, and the many women who work in the main office and the attendance office.

DURING THE YEARS 1903-1904, Georgia Reneau was the second, and last, woman principal of Central. Ethalyn Albert was assistant principal and L. J. Barton, superintendent.

THE FIRST EDITION of the Tom Tom was published in 1909. It has been rated first among high school annuals in Oklahoma by the Oklahoma Interscholastic Press Association since 1927 and has had top rating nationally many times since 1926.

IN THE EARLY 1900's the school paper, then also called Tom Tom, was in the form of a small magazine which came out about once a month. Then in 1918 a class was formed for the purpose of putting out the paper, whose name was changed to Tulsa School Life. At first this paper came out every other week. Beginning in 1939 the paper was made up of news from all three Tulsa high schools.

NO SCHOOL WOULD be complete without athletics. In 1907 the first football team was formed. That winter a group of boys fielded a basketball team. Tulsa Central High School was the first school in Oklahoma, either high school or college, to institute a system of night football.

SINCE 1926 the Letterman's Club has comprised the winners of varsity athletic letter awards at Central. Featuring some of the best known personalities at school among its membership, the "T" men are potentially responsible for unifying Central's intensified sports program.

WHAT THE PRESENT Central students think of as an annual affair now did not exist in the early 1900's. The first Daze was presented in 1927, and from then on it has been a yearly talent show put on by students of Central. To help promote the Daze, the students decided to have a King Daze. The first one to reign was Russell Hunt Sr., elected in 1926. Later Centralites wanted a queen. In 1931 Margaret Campbell was elected Miss Central High I.

IN 1926 the music department of Tulsa Public Schools presented its first performance of Handel's immortal oratorio, The Messiah. Since that time, with the exception of one year when the schools were closed because of an epidemic, it has been a highlight of each Christmas season.

THE SCHOOL hymn, O Great Spirit, was written by two former students at Central. The music was composed by Dorothy Naylor and the words by Doris Allen.

CYRUS E. DALLIN was so inspired by an Indian who lifted his arms in a gesture of prayer in an appeal to the Great Spirit that he sculptured his famous statue, which Central uses as a symbol of its ideals, the original of which stands 19 feet high in front of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, Massachusetts. The plaster of Paris model in the trophy room of our school was replaced by the bronze statue now in the main corridor as a memorial gift from the class of 1923.

ANOTHER GIFT of which Central is very proud is the memorial organ, placed in the south auditorium. The organ fund was started in 1924. For ten years following this time every class left a sum of money for this fund.

CENTRAL, THE OLDEST senior high school in Tulsa, is graduating its fiftieth class. Many students have trod the halls, and many faculty members have given inspiration to those students. Every generation has left its mark on the school.

Governing Body Serves School and Students

Before school began this year the Student Council members were on the job. They sold pennants, hand books, book covers, and directed the students during enrollment.

The student governing body was directed by Miss Faye Laird, sponsor. Alvin Wick wielded the gavel. Assisting him was Linda Ferrill, vice-president. Marilyn Bryant was corresponding secretary; Frances Johnston was the recording secretary. Keeping the funds straight was Susan Key. Norman Irsch made sure everything went according to Robert's rules of order. The inter-school council members were Sandy Smith, Charles Eby, Dick Freese, and Forrest Smittle.

The Student Council compiled the Hello Central, sponsored the clean-up campaign, polished the trophies, sold cokes at the Daze, revised the hand book, elected the boys for the Boy-of-the-Month contest, gave Central the beautiful granite pedestal for the Great Spirit, and took suggestions from the student body.

Delegates were sent to national, southern, and state student council conventions. Dick Freese, president of the Inter-School Council, was chairman for the city convention held at the University of Tulsa.

Under the directions of Frances Johnston, social chairman, the Student Council sponsored the all-school mixer after the Central-Sapulpa football game, served as host for the inter-school mixer, and assisted the sophomore class in planning their annual mixer.

CLASSES

Class of '54 Marks Half Century at Central

September, 1951, found a group of scared but elated students entering Central under the guidance of Miss Gertrude Rector, sophomore class adviser. One of the first events was to elect a cabinet. Reigning over the sophomore class and helping to make the first year a successful one were Boyce Mouton, president; Don Bernabe, vice president; Jean Titsworth, secretary; and Don Tattershall, treasurer.

In October when it came time to select sophomore attendants to the football queen, the class proved it had beauty by choosing Susan Millison, Susan Casey, and Jean Titsworth. The sophomores started the second semester by presenting their first play, Riddle Me Riches, starring Carol Lee Caldwell and Alvin Wick.

As juniors the group met with their new class adviser, Miss Lulu B. Beckington, and chose as their cabinet Tom Canafax, president; Leon Katapodis, vice president; Sue McGill, secretary; and Tom Sharp, treasurer.

In the fall of 1952 the members had the pleasure of choosing three girls to represent them as queen attendants. That year Peggy Arduser, Gayle Goodnough, and Pat Sisler were the lucky ones. The juniors wanted to show the school they really had talent by presenting The Poor Nut as their play. Angus Shearer, Betty Hall, and Marilyn Nyhof helped to prove the point in December.

When the operetta, My Maryland, was cast, two very able and talented juniors, Edwina Willingham and John Penn, had won the leads. Every year the Central band chooses a queen and two attendants. Showing they had good taste, the members chose Betty Coppenger as queen of the band with Susan Millison and Jackie Campbell as her attendants.

It did not take the seniors long to become friends with Mrs. Erskine Stanberry who took over the office as senior class adviser for the first time in September, 1953. For their last year at Central the seniors elected Arch Edwards, president; French Anderson, vice president; Pat Sisler, secretary; and Dave Staudt, treasurer.

Chosen the football queen of Central High, one of the most coveted honors, was Pat Sisler, Miss Central High XXXIII. Her attendants were Susan Millison and Betty Coppenger.

In December the seniors chose, as their play, the exciting drama, Smilin' Through. John Penn, Marilyn Nyhof, Gail Runnels, and Phil Fenn led the cast. The seniors highlighted their last year at Central with a Christmas party, Daze, Ritz Week, senior breakfast at Mohawk, vesper services, and commencement at Skelly Stadium.

As it was 50 years ago, so it shall be 50 years in the future—the seniors graduate and go along the roads of their choice; but the memory of Central will linger in their hearts forever.

Juniors Look Forward to Their Senior Year

Another step along the path of education has been taken by members of the junior class. They may now look back on nine months of education, progress, and fun.

The class of 1,018 members elected as their president Eddie Garrett. His cabinet included Floyd Boyd, vice-president; Jody Ashby, secretary, and Gretchen Bush, treasurer. Miss Ednamay Weeks, their adviser, was always on hand to guide them.

Betty Brothers, Elizabeth Brown, and Gretchen Bush were selected by their classmates for their queenly beauty to serve as junior queen attendants.

The pin and ring committee, which included Norman Chaffee, chairman, Lynn Barrett, Tommy Hardman, Ann Jumper, Dave Martin, Linda Shumard, Dave Edwards, Peggy Schreck, and Dorothy Williams, finally completed the difficult task of narrowing the selection of senior rings to three styles. Their classmates then picked the favorite.

Among the many accomplishments, the class was especially proud of their production of Dear Ruth. Butch Stewart and Patsy Peterson had the leads. Assisting them were Kay Davenport, Carolyn Hill, Anne Anderson, Fred A. Smith, Rickey Schiller, Elizabeth Brown, Gretchen Bush, Dick Freese, Jack Haus, and Gary Drake.

The class was winner of several awards. Among them were the safety slogan contest, won by Betty Brothers; and the My Responsibilities under the Bill of Rights contest, won by Claire Olson.

The juniors have demonstrated that they are capable of assuming the responsibilities of being the next senior class, of upholding the high standards and ideals of their predecessors, and of accomplishing their own aspirations.

Sophomores Achieve Success Their First Year

Early in the year Judy Head, Mary Wright, Bill Beatty, and Tommy Owens were elected by the Red Feathers and Scalpers for the sophomore cheerleaders.

The lucky girls chosen as attendants to Football Queen Pat were Vicki Hamilton, Pat Carroll, and Dorothy Westby.

Of course one of the biggest events for the sophomores was the annual Sophomore Mixer, put on by the Student Council. This event took place on November 14 and proved to be a success, with some of the best talent Central has seen. According to tradition the talent show was held in the south auditorium. Later the group danced and played games in the gymnasiums.

Betsy Martin, Jack Siggins, Barry Epperson, Joneil Foster, and Bill Tiederman carried leading parts in the class play, Tom Sawyer.

The sophomore mothers met the third Friday of each month for a social hour followed by a program designed to acquaint them with Central.

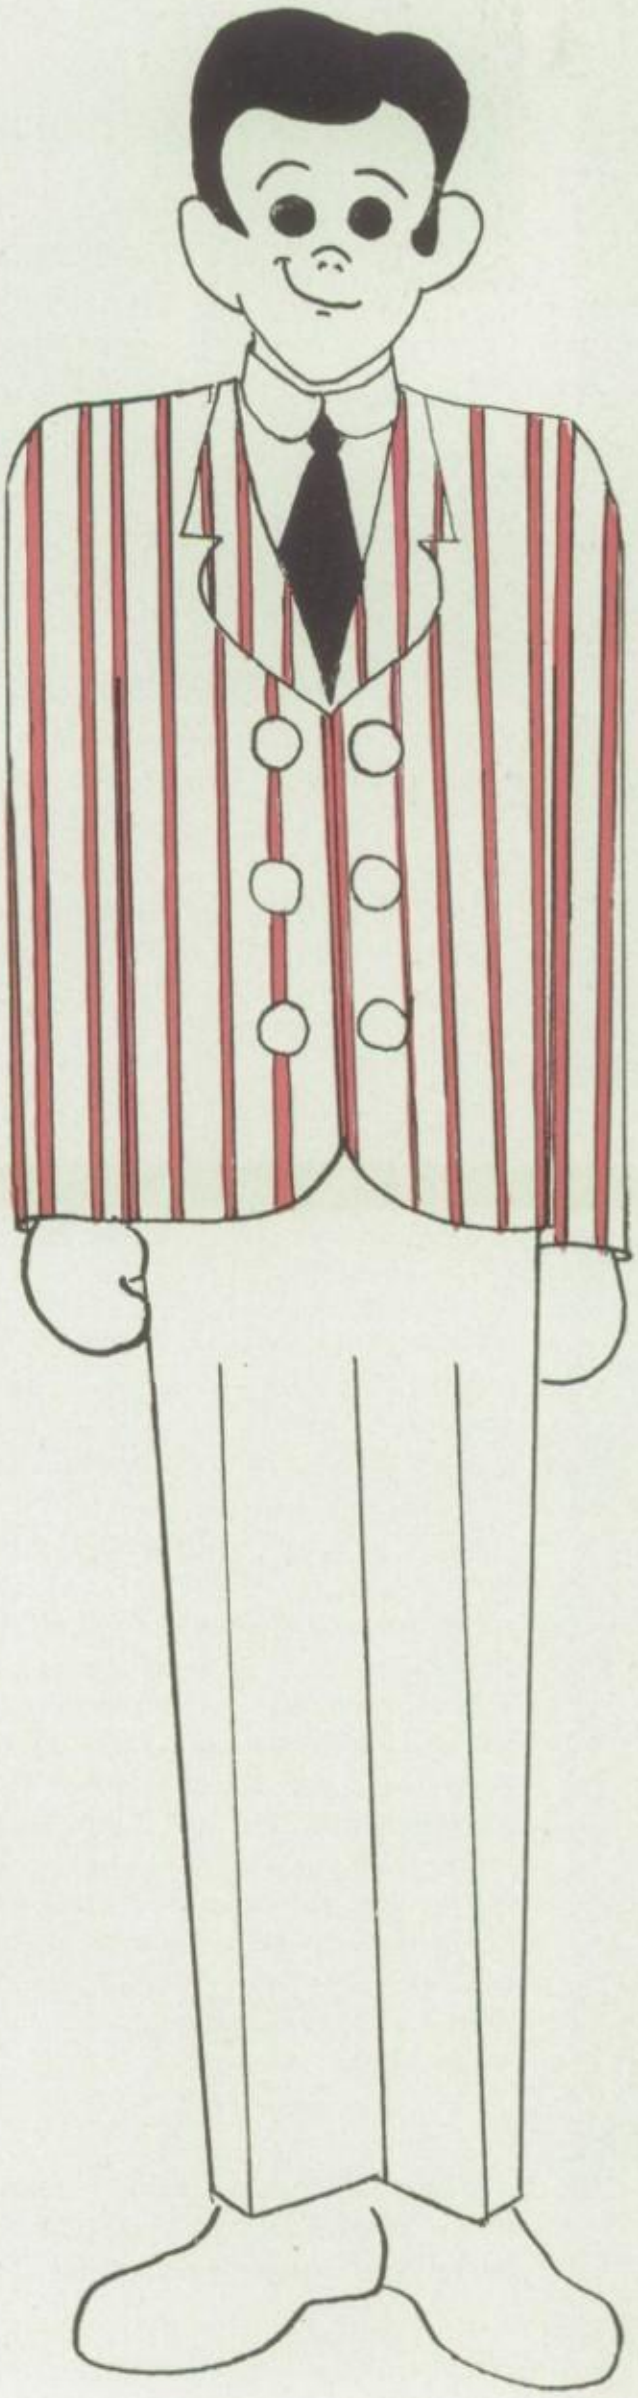
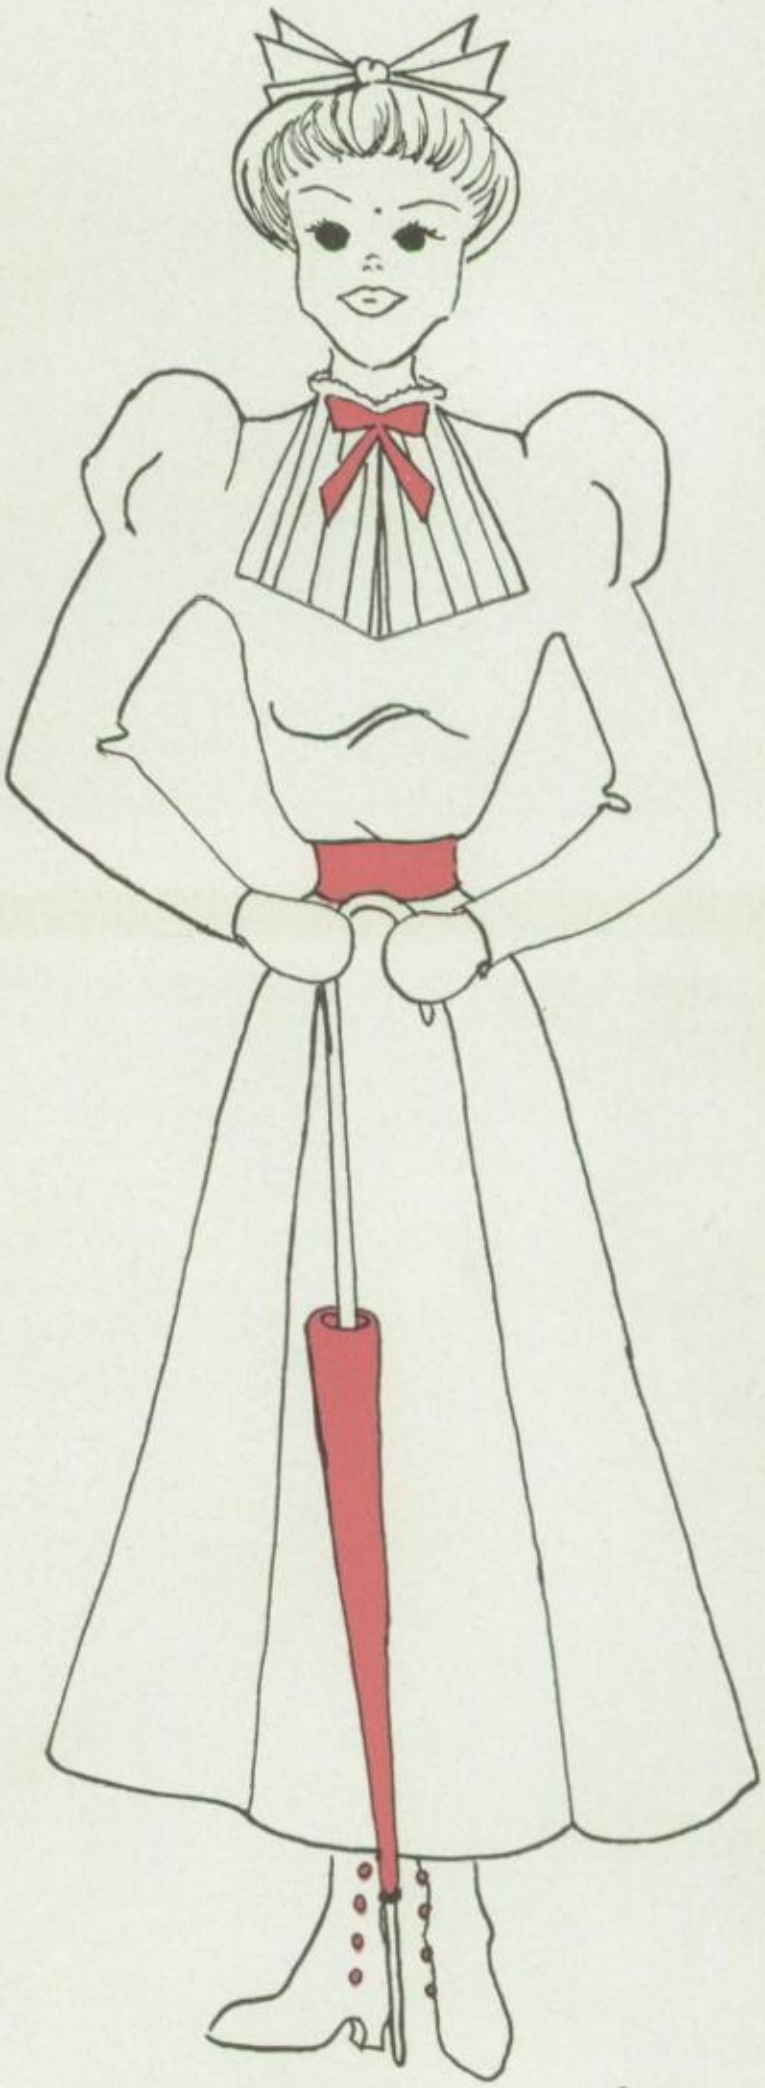
GOOD HOUSEKEEPING MODELS





Jo Jeanne Speaker

Girls' League Lends Helping Hand to Needy

The senior, junior, and sophomore girls of Central under the guidance of Mrs. Minnie May Summers, sponsor, have been working together for many years to spread friendship and helpfulness both at home and abroad through the Girls' League. This year proved to be a golden year for all their activities.

Several years ago the organization adopted Mario Lini, an Italian orphan. Since that time they have fed and educated him. This year he reached his seventeenth birthday and is now able to care for himself.

As a group Girls' League raised money for the Babies' Milk Fund, sponsored the home making department fashion show, and throughout the year operated the Lost and Found department. On March 3 the glee club from Stephens College sang to the league members.

Wielding the gavel for the senior girls was Beverly Benedict, president; helping out in all ways was Pat Fowler, vice president; the minutes were recorded by Mazie Mahan, secretary; and the money was tended by June Ann Milligan.

The junior girls were under the leadership of Gloria Grimes, president; Elizabeth Brown, vice president; Judy Groves, secretary; and Patsy Peterson, treasurer.

The sophomores elected to office were Marcia Rodd, president; Sylvia Samaras, vice president; Patsy Dunham, secretary; and Helen Dye, treasurer.

Boys Informed About Draft and Brotherhood

The highlight of the year for the members of Boys' League was the appearance in assembly of Mr. Jackie Robinson, second baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers. The famous baseball player spoke to the boys on the importance of brotherhood.

Sponsored by Mr. Lieb Richmond, assistant principal, Boys' League helped students with many of their problems, such as the choice of a college, employment, and the draft. The R.O.T.C. was the subject of one of their assemblies.

The seniors elected Jack Nilson, president; Bob Hamilton, vice president; and Kenneth Wood, secretary-treasurer. Dick Hefley presided over the juniors. Roger MacKenzie, vice president, and Floyd Metts, secretary-treasurer, helped him. President Mike Richardson called the sophomores to order. Jack Siggins, vice president, took over when Mike was absent, and Ed Hunt, secretary-treasurer, took minutes and collected dues.

Before meeting Ronald Dixon, Bobby Cheatham, Johnny Stabler, and John Steltzlen chat together.

The membership of Boys' League consisted of every boy in Central. Meetings of home room delegates were called whenever needed to discuss problems and to plan assemblies.

Boys' League Cabinet

Girls' Pep Club Backs School Activities

"Will you please put your School Life down?" was a phrase said every Thursday morning by Mrs. Norma Lou Bridges, sponsor of Red Feathers.

One thousand members — consisting of sophomores, junoirs, and seniors — met every Thursday morning from 8:45 to 9:15 to hear athletic techniques from the coaches and players, to practice yells, and to discuss sportsmanship.

Elizabeth Brown and Catherine Wills sell rooter caps to a group of eager buyers.

The officers elected in the spring to reign over the Red Feathers were Peggy Arduser, president; Linda Ferrill, vice president; Sylvia Rose, secretary; and Alice Young, treasurer. Assisting Mrs. Bridges as sponsors were Miss Mary Ellen Bridges in charge of attendance, Mrs. Ida Holland in charge of squad leaders, and Miss Madeleine McDonald in charge of cheerleaders.

At every game the Braves could depend upon the Red Feathers to be cheering them on to victory. This pep organization followed through by chartering buses for out-of-town games. The traditional red skirts and white jackets were a sight the team always welcomed.

The organization of Red Feathers volunteered to help sell balloons during the annual March of Dimes drive, making over $350 for this worthy cause.

Girls' Pep Club Backs School Activities

The girls always looked forward to the meeting when they had visitors from the different teams: football, basketball, wrestling, track, and baseball.

The three winning squads during the football season were first place, number 16, leader Patricia Roberts; second place, number 11, leader Lavetta Ogden; and third place, number 1, leader Kay Kirkpatrick. The squads won their points by participating in all Red Feather activities.

As a result of the annual challenges on the outcome of the intra-city football game, shining in the trophy case were the Dudes' hat from Will Rogers and the Warriorettes' moccasins from Daniel Webster.

Kay Kirkpatrick, Judy Albert, Patty Ball, and Jane Cooper, squad leaders, wonder what they can do to increase interest among the members.

Scalpers Support Central Athletic Events

Clad in their bright red shirts, the members of Scalpers were easily recognized at all of Central's athletic events. In the fall they were active at the football games, cheering for the Braves. The boys also joined with Red Feathers to help decorate the gym for the annual Coronation Ball, held in honor of Pat Sisler, Miss Central High XXXIII, and her court. During the winter the members retained their enthusiasm for Central's basketball team and wrestling team.

Scalpers supported not only athletics but also all school activities. In the spring they did not drop out of the picture. When Daze time rolled around, they ushered at all performances.

The cabinet of this energetic group consisted of Russell Hunt, president; Ronnie Kirkland, vice president; Don Zimmerman, secretary; John McDaniel, treasurer. The boys who led the cheers were Don Bernabe and Don Lane, senior cheer leaders; John Cherblanc and Jim Taulman, junior cheer leaders; Bill Beattie and Tommy Owen, sophomore cheer leaders. The student assistants to the sponsors were Fred Horn and Gary Drake. Mr. Oliver Burmam and Mr. George Downing were sponsors.

The cabinet also took an active part in the Sportsmanship Conference, held in the fall.

Managers Keep Athletes Well Dressed

One of the most active organizations at Central came into existence again this year. The Managers' Club ceased to be an organization in 1947, but at the beginning of this year the managers and trainers in the boys' athletic department decided to unite to form a club. The meetings were held every other Thursday morning with the head managers, Dean Felts and Bob Anderson, and the real head, Mr. Warren Sharits, who was the sponsor, advising the 15 members.

Every football game, basketball game, cross country meet, baseball game, track meet, and wrestling match showed the work of the Managers' Club. This group checked out and handled every piece of wearing apparel. They stored and cared for the equipment needed in all the previously named sports. They were also trained in first aid. At each out of town game or meet five of the managers went with the team. The entire group was capable of handling any sport practiced in the boys' athletic department.

As a well-trained stage crew is necessary for a successful dramatic production, so is the work of the Managers' Club necessary to a successful athletic performance.

The Central Allied Youth post really showed some spirit when they were campaigning for members so that they would be the largest post in the United States. The results of that campaign are seen in this picture taken during one of their meetings.

Allied Youth Post Ranks Second in Nation

To give high school students a program of alcohol education and alcohol-free recreation is the fundamental purpose of Allied Youth. Its aim is to present to teenagers honest, unemotional facts about drinking and to provide help in meeting the social pressure which may urge them to drink.

This year marked Central's second year as a member of this nationwide organization. Starting with a membership of 326, Allied Youth reached a membership of over 1,300, making them the second largest post in the nation.

Highlighting the year was the annual Male Beauty Contest and Carnival Dance sponsored by the club. The main feature of the carnival was the auctioning of Queen Pat and her attendants for the evening.

Officers of the organization were Larry Beil, president; Corky Oglesby, vice president; Marilyn Nyhof, recording secretary; Mazie Mahan, corresponding secretary; Pam Manhart, treasurer; Charles Eby, finance chairman; Barbara Gould, program chairman; and Joanne Maginniss, membership chairman. Sponsors were Miss Rachel Blackburn, Mr. William C. Lantz, and Mr. Clarence Ehlers.

A delegation of four girls — Diane Duerr, Emily Zants, Nancy Eaton, Wilma Wise—and the sponsors made a trip to Buckhill Falls, Pennsylvania, in November. At this international convention they heard from many national speakers and brought back much useful information.

Allied Youth Cabinet

Keystoners Have Social and Spiritual Aim

Keystoners is a national organization for high school girls working through the YMCA. Their motto is: I am three—God, others, and then me. Their aim is Service, Social, Study, and Spiritual.

The two Central Keystoners groups are Kappa Chi and Theta Phi.

The twenty members of Kappa Chi were led by Barbara Atkins, president; Anita Fox, vice president; Barbara Offut, secretary; Regina Mann, treasurer; Janice Leek, chaplain; and Sue Hayes, reporter.

The officers of Theta Phi were Beverly Hoag, president; Sue Marston, vice president; Donna Duff, secretary; Maryann Wareham, treasurer; Carolyn Marston, chaplain; and Virginia Kearns, reporter.

One of the major national charity drives was World Service, which gave aid to foreign children. On January 29, 30, and 31 representatives from YMCA groups throughout Oklahoma took over the state government. The program was planned to show the leaders of tomorrow the political procedures of today. The YMCA state convention was held at Bartlesville the last week in March.

The highlight on the social side of activities was the annual Sweetheart Formal held February 12. Spring found the groups enjoying the new camp down on Fort Gibson Lake. About twice a month the ballroom was open to all the members and their friends to enjoy a little informal dancing and games.

Working out the agenda for next meeting are Carolyn Marston, Beverly Hoag, and Sue Marston.

Invictus Hi-Y—First Row: Tommy Burton, Glenn Goodrich, Bobby Taylor, Dick Manley. Second Row: Kenneth Wright, Darrell Mullins, Jimmy Clapp, Jerry Henry, Stormy Downey.

Invictus Hi-Y Club Advances World Service

Hi-Y is a national YMCA organization for senior high school boys. The twenty members of Central's Hi-Y group called their club Invictus.

The president was Bob Taylor; assisting him was Jerry Henry, vice president; writing up the minutes was Glen Goodrich, secretary; collecting the dues was Dick Manley, treasurer; keeping meetings in order was Stormy Downey, sergeant-at-arms; and Darrell Mullins was the chaplain.

Bob Taylor, Tom Burton, Jerry Henry, and Darrell Mullins represented the group at Youth in Government in Oklahoma City on January 29, 30, and 31. The members served as junior counselors in YMCA activities. Working with boys and girls all over the United States, they helped children overseas through World Service. The money for this aid was raised by a carnival, which was enjoyed by the members besides being worthwhile.

Roughing it at the new YMCA camp near Fort Gibson dam proved to be loads of fun. The boys joined their best girl friend at the annual Sweetheart Formal held in the YMCA ballroom. At the end of May the Hi-Ys and Keystoners had an ice cream social on the balcony for future members and dates.

Y-Teens Help Promote Friendship and Unity

Through the YWCA two groups of Central girls, the Sanazol-Chiefs and the Scuffies, worked together and separately to promote friendship and unity among young people.

The Sanazol-Chiefs were lead by Mary Ramsey, president; Teddy Graham, vice president; Betty Nichols, secretary; Jane Rhyan, treasurer; Mary Elliot, inter-club council representative; and Marthal Foster, social chairman.

At the beginning of the year this group adopted a small girl from the Tulsa children's home. They held a chili luncheon to aid World Fellowship. Black witches and goblins did not scare the girls and their dates, for they spent Halloween in the home of Pat Fowler, having a great time. The girls had an outing the first weekend in May at Camp Parthenia.

Pat Fowler, Jane Rhyan, and Jyene Cox look over the Y-Teens' bulletin board.

The Scuffies were headed by Jyene Cox, president; Sue Hanna, vice president; Harlene Cox, secretary; Linda Click, treasurer; Mary Bowen, inter-club council representative; and Coralan Childress, devotional chairman.

Their main drive through the year was the March of Dimes. The girls started off the year on a hayride. In February they asked their best date to the annual Sweetheart Ball.

On December 31 the Sanazol-Chiefs and the Scuffies joined in the YWCA ballroom to bring in the New Year.

Directing the group were Mrs. Reva Quetone and Miss Pat Moore.

Advertising Board Sponsors Ticket Sales

The promotion of ticket sales was the chief purpose of the Advertising Board. The board endeavored to insure that all necessary publicity of the school's activities was broadcast to the student body.

Ticket sales for the two speech arts plays and the opera were handled by this organization. It also helped boost the Junior Red Cross membership campaign and the Clef Dwellers' Stomp. Posters were used as a means of advertising these school functions. An electric sign in the main corridor of Central always carried news of coming school activities.

Speakers from the field of advertising spoke at some of the regular Tuesday morning meetings. These speakers gave informative talks advocating advertising as a profession.

The members of the Advertising Board became better acquainted through several social functions. In the fall they enjoyed a picnic at Mohawk Park. Another picnic successfully concluded the year's activities.

The Advertising Board was sponsored by Mrs. Lorna Stenger and Mr. Joel Potts. Officers who assisted them were Janet Markley, president; Steve Trower, vice president; Nadine Wright, secretary; and Susie Haines, treasurer.

Camaratas Usher for School Activities

Curtain was up; lights were out; all were happily seated and had had time to look over their programs. Another performance from the stage of Central was underway.

The 60 girls of Camarata proved capable hostesses throughout the year, as they ushered in their guests for the senior, junior, and sophomore class plays, the two speech arts plays, the opera, The Messiah, the Thanksgiving and the Christmas assemblies, and Business-Education Day. The girls guided the parents through the halls of Central at the P-T.A. reception and Back-to-School night.

Signing up to usher for the senior class play are Carolyn Holmes, Julie Chick, Marjorie McCollum, Carolyn Cremin, and Anolyne Hoffman.

Meetings were held every other Wednesday morning in room 426. Directing the proceedings were Patricia Roberts, president; Violet Nelson, vice president; Sylvia Rose, secretary; and Susan Lawrence, treasurer. Offering words of advice throughout the year were the two sponsors, Mrs. Mary Louise Simms and Mrs. Thelma Berggren.

February found the boys of Key Club and the Camaratas having a big dance in the Boys' Gym. Music, cokes, and fun made up the evening's entertainment.

Toward the end of the year the sophomore and junior girls applied for membership for next year. In honor of the new members a tea was held at the home of Patricia Roberts.

Key Club Adorns Central With Brass Rails

The new brass rails which surround the Great Spirit, the mural, and the War Memorial were gifts to Central from the Key Club.

Presenting a scholarship to some worthy boy, helping in the Christmas parade, and sponsoring a Career Clinic are some of the other things that the boys have done this year.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, the Key Club has been organized for only three years, but it has become a valuable asset to Central.

In addition to their fund raising and service activities, the boys sponsored an all-school dance and had several parties of their own.

In October four members—Jack Rader, North Wood, Charlie Talbot, and Dick Leiser—went to Houston, Texas, for the National Key Club convention. Besides having a good time, they learned how other clubs in the nation were working.

During their regular Tuesday night meetings Charlie Talbot, president, was in charge. Helping him were Bob Hamilton, vice president; Charlie Eby, corresponding secretary; North Wood, recording secretary; Nick Rylander, treasurer; Dave Staudt, senior director; and Dick Hefley, junior director. Mr. Lieb Richmond was sponsor of the club.

Judge George Norvell is shown the Key Club bell by Charlie Talbot, North Wood, and Tom Sharp.

Junior Red Cross Donates Service to Others

Service to others is the purpose of the Junior Red Cross Council. Many visits and programs were arranged and presented to the shut-ins of nearby institutions.

The council lightened the hours for the veterans at the Muskogee Veterans' Hospital. Crippled children at the Junior League Convalescent Home were delighted and pleased by parties presented by the Junior Red Cross. The convalescent polio victims at Hillcrest Memorial Hospital enjoyed the entertainment arranged by the members. Council visits gladdened the remaining days for the old folk at the Tulsa County Farm.

The Junior Red Cross Council assisted the different home rooms to collect gifts for overseas relief. These gifts were contributed to the underprivileged children in foreign lands.

A membership campaign was conducted by the Junior Red Cross Council during the year. The money obtained in this campaign was used for council projects. Magazine subscriptions were purchased with the proceeds from the sale of collected waste paper. The veterans at the Muskogee Hospital enjoyed the relaxation and mental therapy afforded by these magazines.

The Junior Red Cross Council was sponsored by Mrs. Susie Sunderland. Officers who assisted her were Connie Dremissi, president; Gary Martin, vice president; Sylvia Samaris, secretary; Carmen Tomberlin, assistant secretary; Colleen Lear, treasurer; and Trada Briscoe, assistant treasurer.

Hanging up the first poster in preparation for the Junior Red Cross membership drive are Carmen Tomberline, Connie Dremissi, Colleen Lear, Gary Martin, and Sylvia Samaras.

Future Speakers Learn Art of Speechmaking

Having loads of fun while improving their speech could well be the aim of Speakers' Bureau, and this year proved the fulfillment of the aim. Every other Monday and Tuesday morning the members worked together in debates, impromptu speeches, panel discussions, extemporaneous speeches, organized talks, and musical talent numbers.

The year began with the annual fall breakfast, held at Don's Restaurant. Elections at this time resulted in choosing Dobie Langenkamp, president; Tom Sharp, vice president; Marilyn Bryant, recording secretary; Violet Nelson, corresponding secretary; Charlie Eby, treasurer; and Carlotta Polk, sergeant-at-arms.

In November the girls decorated Gayle Goodnough's home for an after-the-football-game party. Guests furnished entertainment in the form of amusing impromptu speeches.

Tryouts for membership were held the last meeting in December; therefore the new year added eight seniors and two juniors to the group. A progressive dinner brought spark into February. To close out the year the group again met at Don's Restaurant for the spring breakfast.

The bureau was under the direction of Miss Alphild Larson. The members performed on class assemblies and general assemblies. They worked both on stage and off stage on the Daze. They served the community through civic club programs and the radio and television.

Speaking is fun, but eating candied apples is more fun agree Dobie Langenkamp, Janet Cabe, Marilyn Bryant, and Gail Runnels.

Camera Fans Share Their Common Interest

Shutters were certainly clicking as the Central Camera Club got under way. The regular meetings were held Thursday afternoons at 3:45 in M14. Mr. Elbert Winesburg, who is the teacher of the newly-organized photography class, was the sponsor.

Many of the activities during the year were lectures and demonstrations from outside authority, field trips, parties, picnics, and shooting sessions. The club had access to a darkroom at the Manual Arts building.

Flashing cameras are Bob Kendall, Paul Dickinson, Jim Walton, and Jack Field.

The regular meetings consisted of studies in composition, portraiture, lighting, operation of the camera, and other aspects of photography. Studies in 35 mm. color photography were furthered by the showing of color slides made by the members. These were discussed and criticized for their exposure, composition, and pictoral quality.

Picture making was encouraged also by the weekly photo contest. Winners from the weekly contest were entered into the picture of the month contest, the winner being placed in the Camera Club showcase on the second floor corridor. Members learned to develop and enlarge their pictures in the well equipped darkroom before and after school hours.

The officers were Jack Field, president; Edgar Merson, vice president; Jim Walton, secretary; Lee Reed Hall, treasurer; and Alfred Dodson, parliamentarian.

Students Explore and Enjoy Field of Art

With the leadership of Edgar Merson, president; Karen Holmberg, vice president; Helen Henson, secretary; and Betty Coppenger, reporter; the Art Club met every Monday afternoon to study and discuss problems in art.

In February the members sponsored the annual Art Exhibition to show the work of all Central students having art ability. First, second, and third prizes were awarded to the winning pieces of work. To see and admire famous paintings these art enthusiasts went on field trips to Tulsa University and Philbrook Art Center. These trips proved very valuable in both beauty and inspiration to the young artists.

The twentieth of February found the members and their dates having loads of fun. Records provided the music for dancing, and hot chocolate and doughnuts were the refreshment for the party. The final fling for the group was the annual spring picnic at Mohawk Park. Everyone present agreed the hot dogs were delicious, the baseball game with the girls playing the boys was exciting, and the entire outing was a success.

Mr. Reed Schmickle, sponsor and new member to the Central teaching staff, was a great help to the members of the Art Club with his experiences in art and his enlightening hints on drawing.

Projection Club Group Keeps Movies Rolling

According to students at Central, one of the most popular ways of learning is by the use of movies. The members of the Projection Club were responsible for projecting all the movies shown in classes and in assemblies.

Jerry Chapman, Larry Oliver, and Winston King make sure that the projector is ready to use.

One of the best-liked general assemblies this year was a movie about the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. Films were also used to show pictorially the results of reckless driving and of atom bomb attacks and to suggest possible solutions to these pertinent problems. Many movies used by departments for instructional purposes were shown in the north auditorium. In this way several classes were able to see the films at the same time.

The boys met each Tuesday during home room to go over any complaints and to learn new techniques for running the machines. Mr. Albert Martin, sponsor, taught the boys how to operate the projectors and how to set up the other visual equipment.

Each boy had one peroid during which he showed films. For this service he earned one-half credit a semester.

The twenty-one members chose George Moore to be their president. The club had two social meetings—a hay ride in the fall and a party in the spring.

Stagecraft Members Work Behind Scenes

Amid the knock of the hammer and the buzz of the saw the Stagecraft Club worked backstage at Central high school during the day and sometimes into the night. From this labor came the professional work observed in the scenes of all class plays, the opera, the Daze, and the assemblies.

Mr. Albert Martin has directed this club since 1929. He was assisted by the cabinet—Bob Morgan, president; Joe Andoe, property manager; Jack O'Neal, senior manager; and J. D. Scott, lighting manager.

The painting and designing of the scenery was carefully planned, skillfully worked out, and finished always on time. The change of a scene in all productions was done in less than five minutes and in complete silence. The club was composed mostly of boys, but the few girls who were members were helpful on the work of the scenery.

The Stagecraft Club held its meeting every Monday after school. Each member received one credit for every 120 hours of work. Besides working backstage, the group helped organize the senior breakfast and build the fires for it.

Not all of the time was spent at work. The organization found time for parties, hayrides, dinners, and hikes.

Sharpshooters Say Practice Makes Perfect

"Hold your ears. They're at it again. At the first of the year there was hardly any racket, but now it sounds as if a major battle is going on in the gym," said a Centralite listening to a target practice of the Rifle Club.

Starting with a few boys at the opening of school, the club grew to a membership of 45 under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert Kite, business education teacher. During the year these boys qualified from pro-marksman through sharpshooters. Mr. Edward McCray, science teacher, was their instructor.

Ready, aim, fire! Hitting the targets are Bruce Hovis, Terry Nollan, and Ed Wheeler.

An important event of the year was the contest between two teams composed of club members. Four positions were used—prone, kneeling, sitting, and offhand. In this match Ed Wheeler's team outshot Harold Campbell's group. Bob Buffum, Jerry Dillard, and Jerry Wisely won first, second, and third places respectively.

Officers for the year were Jim McDermott, executive officer, and Harold Campbell, chief range officer.

The boys began to try pistol shooting. The club will incorporate this popular sport with rifle shooting in the near future.

Several luck matches, tyro chance, were featured this year. The purpose of these matches was to give the beginners a chance to win awards in competition with better shooters.

Lettermen Unify Intensified Sports Program

Now in its twenty-ninth year of existence, the Lettermen's Club comprises the winners of varsity athletic letter awards at Central. Featuring some of the best known personalities at school among its membership, the T men are potentially responsible for unifying Central's intensified sports program.

Leon Katapodis carried the gavel as president, while Ron Solow, vice president; Ralph Lairmore, secretary-treasurer; Bob Dudley, J. R. Johnson, and Ron Kirkland, sergeants-at-arms; led interference on the executive cabinet. Coach Clarence Ehlers was sponsor.

During their respective seasons, various coaches talked to the boys about the different sports, emphasizing the finer points of sportsmanship. Several athletic celebrities — Roger MacKenzie, Melly Cruz, Dobie Langenkamp, Angus Shearer, and Jim Timberlake — started the ball rolling with colorful entertainment at their bi-monthly meetings by bringing to life the Central spirit in sports of the past and present.

Highlight of the year was the usual gathering of the clan for their annual spring picnic.

Slipping in late to meeting is Jim Timberlake, but greeting him are Bobby Logsdon, Richard Gillihan, Jerry Barnes, and Bob Dudley.

Girls Learn to Balance Their Work and Play

The purpose of the Girls' Recreation Association is to help the girls of Central both athletically and socially. Miss Mildred Terry, sponsor, assisted the members by helping them reach a well-balanced program of work and play.

G.R.A. officers — Marlene Moon, Margaret Black, Betty Coppenger, Mary Kay Dissly, and Sue Davis — outline the coming tennis tourney.

Betty Coppenger headed the organization as president; Sue Davis, vice president, helped her throughout the year; Mary Kay Dissley served as secretary; Marlene Moon was the treasurer; and Margaret Black kept the scrap book in order.

Girls' Recreation Association sponsored field hockey, volley ball, ping-pong, basketball, soft ball, and tennis tournaments. These tournaments were opened for participation to all the girls of Central. One sport hardly ended when another began.

Letters and medals were given to the members who had earned the specified number of points through participation in the different sport events. The goal for the senior members was the loving cup which was presented to the best senior member at the end of the year.

The year was brought to a close by the Sportsmen's Ball. At this time members and their dates joined in the girls' south gym to dance and have an all-round good time.

Square Dance Club Gives Exhibition Dances

Sounds of gay music and laughter were heard during the weekly meetings of the Square Dance Club. The club gathered on Tuesday mornings to learn new dances and to practice the more familiar ones. In addition to square dancing, the members enjoyed couple dancing also.

Exhibitions were given by the dancers whenever they were invited to appear. The girls' full skirts and the boys' bright shirts made a colorful picture as they danced.

To start off the year the club gave a dance in the south gym. The caller and the musicians donated their services to the members. Several dances were held in Brady Hall.

The members of the club chose Betty Fuller to be their president. Carol Burnett was elected vice president; Mary Elliot, secretary; and Judy Kesseler, Marvin Carter, and Barbara Hunley, senior, junior, and sophomore cabinet members. Cabinet meetings were held on Monday mornings. Miss Rachel Blackburn sponsored the group of dancers.

Forsaking their dancing for other amusement, the group enjoyed two picnics, one in the fall and one in the spring.

Betty Fuller, John Strong, Marvin Carter, Cluese Heath, and Carol Burnett form the Texas Star.

Showmen's Club Prepares Many Programs

The Showman's Club was organized to entertain shut-ins and to give students an opportunity to display their ability. The talent throughout the club was varied—tap dancing, singing, reading, pantomine, ballet, and instrumental music.

For a forthcoming civic luncheon Richard Featherston, Mary Casillas, Lavetta Ogden, and Robert Featherston rehearse a number with Betty Burgess.

Only one year old, the club gave an average of one show a week for various hospitals, convalescent homes, polio wards, church groups, civic dinners, and school programs. The members were always ready to produce a show at any time, even on only a day's notice. In planning these programs, everyone was given the opportunity to appear as often as possible.

All year long try-outs were held the last Thursday of each month in the north auditorium. Anyone was eligible to enter—sophomores, juniors, or seniors, if he had a talent.

Bringing about a successful year was Richard Featherston, president; Robert Featherston, vice president; Barbara Gould, corresponding secretary; Johnny Cherblanc, treasurer; and Elaine Anderson, mistress of ceremonies. Miss Larettia Sager sponsored the club.

To celebrate the club's first birthday, the members and alumni held an anniversary dance the night of February 5.

Thespian Society Furnishes Dramatic Talent

In 1926 Central received the charter giving the school membership in the National Thespian Society. Since that time this organization has been the foundation for all of Central's dramatic productions. The requirements to become a member are to have a total of 70 lines in a main stage production.

There were 13 members at the beginning of this year. By the end of the year there were 31 active members. The group met in private homes every other Tuesday night. They listened to dramatic recordings, read one act plays, and had such speakers as Mr. Charles Ellis, the co-ordinator of the Tulsa Opera company, who talked to them about Theater-in-the-Round. Each meeting was concluded with tempting refreshments as cake, brownies, or ice cream.

Calling the meetings to order was John Penn, president. His assistant was Dick Schlichting, vice president. Writing the minutes and the letters of acceptance was Sue McGill, secretary. Collecting the dues was David Stanford, treasurer. The director was Miss Laurine Hager.

Members of Thespians participated in all of Central's dramatic productions—the Daze, radio, and television. Several times throughout the year they were called by civic organizations to furnish entertainment for programs.

Society Draws Attention To Historic Sites

The Tulsa Historical Society under the guidance of their sponsor, Mrs. Edith Daugherty, accomplished many projects and activities for the year of 1953-1954.

The principal project of the society was to have several hosts or hostesses at Gilcrease Art Museum on Sunday afternoons. Some of these students who volunteered their services to the museum were Lois Williams, Mary Jo Jones, Nadine Holmes, Betty Fairchild, Sherry Jones, and Hazel Leitch.

The students enrolled in the five community history classes made up the membership of the Tulsa Historical Society. Each class formed a chapter to the society. Each chapter then chose its own officers, and the entire society chose cabinet officers. The cabinet officers were Bob Morrow, president; Don Sills, vice president; Lorene Wells, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Lou Park, senator.

Mr. Thomas Gilcrease tells John McDaniels the story behind the statue of Will Rogers.

The chief purpose of the society was to initiate a community service project and to secure accurate information about Tulsa history. The organization called public attention to the need of suitable identification for Tulsa's historic sites. Another purpose of the society was to collect appropriate materials for a historical museum and to benefit from the experiences incident to such an undertaking.

Historical Cabinet

Yearbook Staff Maintains Rigid Schedule

The Tom Tom staff under the guidance of Miss Ruth Holton found much work to do in producing the 1954 yearbook. During the first semester the jobs included alphabetizing pictures, writing stories, scheduling pictures, and assisting seniors in signing their pictures. In order to meet the deadlines, pictures had to be taken according to a time schedule.

Ann Thurston and Joanie Hudgens assist Tom May while signing his senior panel.

Mr. Reed Schmickle, the new art staff adviser, helped his group create ideas for Tom Tom opening and division pages. To carry out the theme of the golden anniversary, the art staff was kept on its toes looking for pictures characteristic of 1904.

The Oklahoma Interscholastic Press Association, which was held in Norman, October 9-10, found the Tom Tom staff well represented. Many helpful points on yearbook construction were gained from the meetings, and everyone had a wonderful time. Once again in the state contest the judges awarded the Tom Tom highest honors in Class A.

Remaining on the staff second semester were Joan Hudgens and Tom May, co-editors; Ann Thurston, business manager; Jim Walton, Mary Margaret Scott, Jim Mansfield, Margaret Blue, and Claire Keegan.

Although the job of putting out the annual became discouraging at times, every staff member felt proud when the 1954 Tom Tom came off the press.

Journalists Write and Edit School Newspaper

Central, Rogers, and Webster combined forces to publish the Tulsa School Life, a weekly paper which was distributed every Thursday morning. The paper consisted of the latest news from the three schools, feature stories, editorials, sports write-ups, and advertisements.

Central editor-in-chief was Caroline Kendall. Bob Coryell was her assistant. In charge of features was Marilyn Nyhof. Sports editor was Dobie Langenkamp. Managing the business was Wilma Wise. The exchange editor was Jane Tygart, and the photographer was Larry Cohan. Miss Anne Crotchett, newspaper adviser, kept things moving smoothly throughout the year.

In the early part of October the School Life staff attended a journalism convention at the University of Oklahoma. In the latter part of April the journalists again met. This time the conference was held on the campus of the University of Tulsa.

During the ticket selling campaign for the senior class play the Tom Tom staff challenged the School Life staff to see which group could sell the most tickets. February found the Tom Tom staff giving School Life a big picnic at Teddy Kershner's farm.

Classmates Acquire Experience in Vocations

The members of the Vocational Distributive Education Club learned how to become expert salesmen and saleswomen. Speakers, field trips, daily classroom work, and actual experience aided them in their vocations.

The group took field trips to several downtown department stores, the Gibbons Advertising Agency, and the Public Service Company. Mrs. Gladys B. Hannaford, a diamond expert, explained to the members how diamonds are cut and showed them several samples and replicas of famous diamonds. Mr. A. J. Gariepy, sponsored by the Tulsa Sales Executives Club, gave a talk on Sales Training.

Barbara Norman, a D.E. student who works at a downtown store, tries her salestalk on a customer.

The officers for this year were Milton Haynes, president; Richard Brasel, vice president; Charleen Brown, secretary; Barbara Norman, treasurer; and Richard Blissit, parliamentarian. Carolyn Barnett edited the newspaper, D.E.C. News, with Betty Teel, co-editor. Mrs. Loucillah Kirkpatrick sponsored the group.

The state convention was held the first week in March on the University of Oklahoma campus. At the delegates meeting in October, Theresa Vaughan was elected the state treasurer. The Central club is affiliated with both the national and state organizations.

At the annual Christmas party, held in the Blue Room of the Alvin Hotel, toys were exchanged and then given to the children at the Turley Children's Home.

Boys Get Mechanical and Technical Knowledge

The Trade and Industrial Club was composed of junior and senior boys, who attended school from 8:05 until 12:10. In the afternoon they worked throughout Tulsa in shops and business establishments learning the trades of their choice. The major purpose of the club was to promote fellowship, knowledge of various trades, and social activities.

The 36 members worked at 19 different trades. The boys' jobs ranged from two radio and television mechanics to a dental technician. Ten of the boys worked as machinists, which proved to be the most popular job. An X-Ray mechanic, cabinet maker, dry cleaner, and airplane mechanic were some of the other occupations followed by the members.

While at school the boys met with their sponsor, Mr. Raymond G. Johnson, from 8:05 till 9:10 to study their particular trade. Then Mrs. Lorna Stenger taught the entire group English. For third period the boys split up to take a variety of subjects. At 10:16, they returned to Mr. Johnson's room to study health, safety, economics, and public relations.

The social activities consisted of two moonlight picnics at Mr. Johnson's farm. A large fire blazed between the two lakes over which hot dogs were roasted by the members and their dates. On February 18 the group went to Turley's Rainbow Arena for an exciting skating party.

Future Secretaries Learn Their Business

One of the most important occupations in the business world is that of secretary. To help girls train for the job, the Secretarial Club was organized. The activities were designed to help the members to understand better the business office and the requirements for becoming a secretary. Speakers, films, and demonstrations of business machines were some of these activities.

During this past year the Secretarial Club, under the direction of Mrs. Leta Bard, was an active organization. It consisted of 35 members. The officers were Virginia Potter, president; Ernestine Worley, secretary; and Margaret Schneider, treasurer. Meetings were held in Room 330 every two weeks on Wednesday afternoon at 3:45.

Mary Pelfrey, Jody Ashby, Earnestine Worley, Margaret Schneider, Jean Vanwy, Eva Gambrell, and Virginia Potter seem interested in what Annett Villines is typing.

Some of the activities which the girls seemed to enjoy most centered around good grooming. Miss Catherine Hunter, head of the homemaking department at Tulsa University, gave some helpful hints. A representative from the Merle Norman Cosmetic studio presented a demonstration on care of the hair and skin. Then Mrs. Pauline Wood, personal director at Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, spoke on filling out applications and applying for a job.

The future secretaries found time, too, for a Christmas party and a picnic at the close of school.

Members Gain Inside Information on World

The members of International Club, sponsored by Miss Sara Coleman, met every Wednesday afternoon. Their purpose was to discuss world situations and thereby learn about life in other lands. The officers were Karl Cocke, president; Edgar Merson, vice president; Jack Field, secretary; Mike Trower, treasurer; Clyde Strachan, parliamentarian; and Claire Olson, social chairman.

The year's activities included programs by many interesting guest speakers. Mrs. Sallie Gruwell spoke on the Coronation and her summer in Britain; Miss Bertie Goetschius told about her tour of the Mediterranean world; Phyllis Trout expressed a student's opinion after having lived in Germany for a year; Miss Louise Wilson gave a tourist's impression of Egypt and the Holy Land; and Arturo Mejia presented a picture of United States' customs in contrast to those of his native Colombia.

The club also enjoyed films, book reviews, and panel discussions on current issues. At Christmas they sponsored a relief project for Korean war victims.

The annual Christmas social hour occurred the week before vacation with refreshments planned by Claire Olson. In February Jan Markley entertained the club at an evening snack party in her home. A spring picnic at Mohawk Park closed the year's activities.

Young Chemists Experiment With Molecules

Mysteries of test tubes and formulas were solved this year during the meetings of the Chemistry Club.

Besides doing experiments themselves, the group had demonstrations and speakers and made field trips to various places. One of their speakers was Dr. Franklin T. Gardner, a professor from the University of Tulsa, who gave a lecture on advanced college chemistry. A demonstration on high fidelity reception was also given by a guest speaker. Trips to the Nelson Electric Company, the Ethyl Corporation, and the Thurston Chemical Company were informative. Several films, some of which were on electrons and crystals, were shown during the year.

Bob Stuemky, Richard Carney, and Tom Kitchens examine the contents of a test tube.

One of the projects was to make charts for the laboratory. The club members affiliated themselves with the Science Clubs of America.

Under the guidance of Mr. George Hall, sponsor, the officers for this year were Richard Carney, president; John Cox, vice president; Jerry Solomon, secretary; Tom Kitchens, treasurer; and Bob Steumky, program chairman.

The club had its annual Christmas party during which one of the experiments turned out to be something good to eat. The future scientists enjoyed a picnic in the spring.

Medico Club Gets Acquainted With Medicine

The Medico Club was organized twenty years ago by students who were interested in the medical field. The purpose of this organization is to make students understand different phases of medicine through field trips, speakers, and discussion by students.

The group elected Charlies Grosshans president. Other cabinet members were Tom Matheson, vice president; Gretchen Hotz, attendance secretary; Marilyn Hendren, social secretary; and Clark Venable, treasurer. Mr. A. E. Baer, physiology and psychology teacher, sponsored the group again this year.

The club held its meetings every Tuesday afternoon at 3:45. Some of the speakers that the group had were Dr. Marv Graham, pediatrician; Dr. Joe Tyler, psychiatrist; and Dr. Donald Mishler, plastic surgeon. Among the places visited were Oklahoma Osteopathic Hospital, the Perry Clinic, Children's Medical Center, St. John's Hospital, Hillcrest Hospital, and the Springer Clinic.

While this organization was learning about medicine, it was having fun doing it. However, the members did more than just study about medicine to have fun. They had two picnics, one in the fall and one in the spring.

Mrs. Muriel Pearson, sponsor. Second Row: Sally Grimes, Ernestine Worley, Jo Ann Fair, Joy Rathbun, Lorene Goodin, Alma Walker, Carole Merritt, Joyce Smithee. Third Row: Rebecca Wells, Maudina Patrick, Virginia Turner, Annette Patrick, Shirley Doll, Joyce Griffith, Betty Jackson, Virginia Whitehouse.

Homemakers Prepare Themselves for Future

A pan and a spoon is all the girls of the Future Homemakers of America need to start off a perfect home for America's future. The Future Homemakers of America are taught the true value of a home.

Learning how to brighten up their future homes are Norma Lee Joseph, Alma Walker, Shirley Doll, and Joyce Griffith.

Under their sponsor, Mrs. Cathern Hanks, the girls learned to serve suppers, give a tea, and make the home more attractive.

At their meetings every second and fourth Friday of the month they gave interesting talks on ways to improve the home or parties to show how a dinner should be served. In charge of the meetings were Carole Merritt, president; Shirley Doll, vice president; Joyce Griffith, secretary; Annette Patrick, treasurer; Nina Long, historian; Rebecca Wells, parliamentarian; Joyce Smithee, reporter; Ernestine Worley, song leader.

Any girl enrolled in a home making course may join the Future Homemakers of America. What they learn is of value to a true homemaker. When these girls go into homes of their own, they will be able to prepare meals and handle the house cleaning as it should be.

The group closed out the year with a picnic in the spring honoring the senior members.

Future Teachers Gain Valuable Experience

Meeting on alternate Tuesday afternoons, the George Pearson Future Teachers of America Club learned some of the requirements for becoming teachers.

The club had several speakers, one of whom was Dr. Ted Anderson, director of visual education for Tulsa public schools, who demonstrated the use of films as an aid to teaching. Mr. John Venable, personnel director for the public schools, and Mr. M. M. Black also spoke to the group.

A study of desirable teacher traits was made. Professional magazines and pamphlets were read and discussed.

Some of the members substituted for teachers who were suddenly called away or had to leave early for some reason. A school visitation program was also carried out. The future teachers gained valuable experience in these ways.

The club attended the Tulsa University day for Future Teachers of America. They also went to Stillwater for the two-day state convention held on the Oklahoma A. and M. campus.

Led by Melba Richardson, president, the other officers were Jeaneen Wehnes, secretary; Harriet Bliss, treasurer; and Karen Holmberg, program chairmen. Mrs. Floy Cobb sponsored the group.

In the fall new members were initiated at a party held in the home of Mrs. Cobb. A later initiation was held at a regular meeting at school.

Susan Harris, Deloris Adams, Betty Fuller, and Carmelita May discuss future teaching plans.

Orchestra Presents Concerts at Schools

Larry Shell, Kay Kennedy, Gaile Reynolds, and Joanie DeWitt smooth out some sour notes.

To give concerts during general assembly and before the various junior high schools was the pleasure of the orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Clarence Gates. Entr'acte numbers were presented during the two speech arts plays and the class plays.

About 45 of the musicians formed a symphonette which played when a smaller group was needed.

Some of the members of the orchestra participated in the opera orchestra, the all-state orchestra, and the accompaniment for The Messiah. Six members of the orchestra, forming a string ensemble, delighted listeners at women's clubs, church gatherings, and civic organizations.

To get recognition for their services and their improvements in techniques, the students worked for awards under a

The officers, who assisted Mr. Gates, were Bob Pegues, president; Clark Venable, vice president; Gaile Reynolds, secretry-treasurer and senior counselor; Joan DeWitt, junior counselor; Greta Ann Morris, sophomore counselor; Jan Pettypool, chairman of social committee; Don Reis, chairman of merit system; Eddy Garrett, busines manager; George Dovas, librarian; and Dary Steinberg, assistant librarian.

A rousing picnic at Mohawk Park in the fall furnished a delightful interlude for the members of the orchestra. A successful year was concluded with a formal banquet in the spring.

Band Displays Spirit

"Hip-zu titti-boom bah zu!" is just a sample of the spirit that possessed the Central High School Band. The band, under the direction of Mr. Clarence F. Gates, was an active and an inspiring organization. They held the honor of being one of the largest high school marching bands in the United States.

The band members not only performed for fellow classmates in assemblies, plays, and at football games, but also marched in community parades, gave their annual spring concert, and presented programs for the junior high schools.

Music of Saint Cecilians Enjoyed Everywhere

Marilyn Wilkerson, Shirley Scott, Paula Capps, Marilyn Teter, and Virginia Freeman record their voices before school.

Saint Cecilians entertained Central with music inspired from celestial heights. Their saintly music was enjoyed on several assemblies, including the Thanksgiving Day Girls' League assembly. The heavenly all-girls' number, The Morning Star, heard on the annual Christmas tableau assembly was sung by these Central saints. They also participated in the other parts of the Christmas program along with the other musical organizations of Central.

Besides performing on Girls' League assemblies, they participated in a sophomore assembly. A program was presented for the Women's Council at the Southminster United Presbyterian Church.

One of the important projects of the year was the rehabilitation of the old A Cappella choir robes. This activity enabled St. Cecilians to be a robed choir for the first time since the organization had its beginning. They repaired the robes and had them cleaned.

A spring concert was given in cooperation with the other music groups at Central.

Planning their socials for the year were the competent officers—Carolyn Eads, president; Pattie Morrow, secretary; and Sylvia Samaras, treasurer.

The A Cappella cabinet—Paul Craft, Virginia Bailey, and Bill Settel—show off the new choir robes.

Providing Tulsa with beautiful music at many varied performances was the seventy-voiced A Cappella choir under the direction of Mr. Raymond E. Light.

The Messiah, annual highlight of the Christmas season for many Tulsans, and A Cappella's performance for the Lions Club are examples of their accomplishments. Assembly programs were given at Central, several junior high schools, and Booker T. Washington high school.

On November 23 sixty-two sleepy-eyed A Cappellans boarded two chartered busses at six o'clock in the morning. Their destination was Oklahoma A. & M. at Stillwater, where they participated in the Thanksgiving Choral Festival.

Musicians Supply Inspiration at Christmas

Choral groups from every part of Oklahoma sang in this festival.

Combining with the other choruses at Central, A Cappella presented the music heard at the Christmas assembly, which is traditional. The Nativity was sung as speech students enacted the Christmas story by tableaux.

Christmas carols heard Christmas Eve day in front of the First National Bank were supplied by the choir along with other high school students in the city.

Making plans for the spring concert and annual socials were Paul Craft, president; Grant Record, vice president; Virginia Bailey, secretary; and Bill Settel, treasurer.

Opera Club Members Stage Musical Comedy

Dick Schlichting and Patsy Peterson sing "One Kiss," the well-known romantic song from "New Moon."

Every year the members of Opera Club sigh and wonder how they will surpass previous operetta performances. This year's annual operetta, the twenty-ninth to be presented, was Oscar Hammerstein II and Sigmund Romberg's New Moon. Playing the leading roles were Dick Schlichting and Patsy Peterson. Others in cast were John Penn, Sue McGill, Rolly Meinholtz, James Dockens, Johnnie Cherblanc, Lavetta Ogden, and Jerry Smith.

The Opera Club participated in the presentation of Handel's Christmas oratorio, The Messiah. An assembly program was presented in commemoration of Armistice Day.

The Christmas season found Opera Club members singing for the Christmas Eve day caroling in front of the First National Bank. A repeat performance, as they entertained Tulsans with their own caroling party, was much fun for all.

The group enjoyed several socials during the year, including a wiener roast, a cast party following the opera, and the annual spring picnic.

Officers were Dick Schlichting, president; Don Bernabe, vice president; Beverly Brown, secretary; and Annabel Phillips, treasurer. Mr. Raymond E. Light was the director.

Sue McGill, John Penn, Lavetta Ogden, and Rolly Meinholtz, the four comedy leads of "New Moon," join voices in a bit of fun with the song, "Love Is Quite a Simple Thing."

Braves Have Strong Determination and Spirit

Central's Big Red machine was one of the most successful and interesting teams the Braves have ever presented. True, the Redskins did not walk away with the undisputed championship, but for their willingness to absorb, for their team spirit, and for an interesting brand of football they were hard to beat. Statistically speaking, Central and Muskogee vied for football honors in the 6A Conference, sharing the co-championship.

Central found vengeance the following week as the Braves blasted a determined but listless Sand Springs team 12-0.

Central squeezed out a narrow victory over an ever inspired group of Sapulpa Chieftains. The highly favored Chief-

Cross Country Boys Remain Undefeated

Hard training by the boys and expert coaching by Coach William C. Lantz was evident in the 1953 cross-country season. The team, led by Ronny Wade, completed the sixth consecutive undefeated season. Ronny did a terrific job of running at the state meet and won first place for Central.

The returning lettermen for the 1954 season are Bishop, Cumbey, Johnson, and Rich.

Three Grapplers Win State Champion Medals

The Central High wrestling team under the tutelage of Coach George Dorsch ended the season with a record of five wins and four losses. Richard Gillihan, Ledgel Taylor, and Bill Waybourn won individual championships in the state meet held at Webster High School.

In the first fray with Perry the Big Red ran into a little difficulty, the match ending with a score of 20-12 in favor of Perry. However, Central got back into the groove by pinning Webster 22-12. Oklahoma City's John Marshall High School was a pushover for the Braves, who nailed their opponents 46-0. Ponca City showed excellent teamwork in the next encounter, beating Central 21-14. Still undaunted, the Braves breezed past Sapulpa and Rogers with convincing scores, 33-3 and 23-9.

The 1954 wrestling lettermen were Perry Brinlee, Bill Busch, Dick Carruthers, Don Clemishire, Richard Gillihan, Dick Guinn, J. B. Hoobler, Bill Hulsey, Jim Roberts, Richard Smith, Ledgel Taylor, Billy Teale, Freddie Williams, Bill Waybourn, and Carl Young.

The Junior lettermen returning for next year are Brinlee, Guinn, Hoobler, Hulsey, Roberts, and Young. Two Sophomores lettered and will be returning next year. They are Teale and Williams.

Each year the wrestling squad makes two awards to team members—one for citizenship and the other for captain of the season. The grapplers chose Charles Talbot as the best citizen and Ledgel Taylor as wrestling captain.

Basketball Squad Has Its Ups and Downs

The 1953-54 basketball season opened victoriously for Coach Ehlers and his Braves and ended with the team going into the regional finals. For the third time in the five years of the Will Rogers Invitational Tournament Central won, defeating Okmulgee 57-43, Sand Springs 50-39, and Will Rogers 50-45.

Conference play began January 5. During successive games the Central roundballers lost their stride and were defeated by Sand Springs 38-43, Webster 45-56, and Will Rogers 44-52.

The first conference victory came when Central defeated Sapulpa 46-42. The other conference victories were over Muskogee 67-39 and Okmulgee twice, 58-47 and 44-42.

The team lost four games by one or two points. Sand Springs began this series by gaining the lead in the last minute to defeat the home squad 49-51. On February 9 the Bartlesville Wildcats slipped by the Big Red 49-50. The following Friday night Central and Rogers played a nip and tuck game until the final buzzer sounded defeat for the Braves 48-49. Then Sapulpa came out victorious 42-44.

Central stopped these heartbreaking games by defeating Okmulgee, only to have Muskogee the next week outshoot them 55-62.

The last conference game disappointed the downtown high school fans when the Webster five rolled by the Braves 48-52.

Hopes rose when Central defeated McAlester 49-48 in semi-final play at the regionals held in Muskogee. The finals blocked out all hopes, with Rogers for the third time this year, defeating Central 34-56.

Fifteen boys received T awards—John Aitkin, Bill Black, Richard Gonzales, Ronnie Kirkland, Phil Kramer, Dobie Langenkamp, Charles Moore, Jerry Newman, Jack Nilson, Jim Timberlake, Bill Tulk, Don Webber, Robert Woods, Ronnie Young, and the manager, John Miller.

Hardballers Have a Well Balanced Line-up

Playing another fine season under Coach Clyde Charvoz, the 1953 baseballers fielded a solid club with a well balanced line-up. After splitting their first four conference games, the varsity showed the necessary power for a winning pennant drive.

The pitching staff was headed by Bob Dudley and Nick Rylander. Behind the plate catching duties were handled by experienced and hustling Ralph Lairmore.

Despite a record of nine wins to six losses for the 1953 season, Central hardballers gave promise of being one of the better teams in the conference during the 1954 campaign.

The lettermen who made up the 1953 squad were Jack Nilson, Bill Waybourn, Richard Winsworth, Keith Davis, Don Clear, Bob Wyatt, Ralph Lairmore, Ronald Bloom, Bob Dudley, Nick Rylander, and Leon Katapodis.

The returning lettermen for the '54 season were Waybourn, Nilson, Katapodis, Clear, Davis, Lairmore, Dudley, and Rylander.

Linksmen Swing Way to Conference Honors

Another powerful golf team was built last year by Coach George Dorsch. The Braves were led by Art Hall, hard hitting stylist and medalist winner. Bill Frazier, J. T. Beams, and Ralph Baker completed Central's winning varsity team. The linksters walked away with all high honors at the conference tournament in Tulsa.

Bill Frazier sinks a long tricky putt, while Art Hall looks on.

The par-busters started out last year by defeating Sapulpa 9 to 5. They continued undefeated the entire year.

Racquet Squad Proves Excellence at the Net

Under the coaching of Mr. Clarence Ehlers, Central fielded a 1953 tennis squad that showed well in conference competition. The hard-hitting netsters suffered their lone setback at the hands of Shawnee, 12-0.

The racquet squad members who saw action on the court were Clayton Williams, Tom Turnbaugh, Bob Markley, Tom Webster, Phil Hughes, Dobie Langenkamp, Bill Fox, Angus Shearer, and Jim Carter.

The highly-touted Braves turned in a good performance at the Conference Tennis Tournament. Central players stroked their way into the singles and doubles championships, led by Clayton Williams and Tom Turnbaugh. Tom Webster and Bob Markley were runner-ups for the conference in doubles and singles.

Central had four men entered in the University of Oklahoma Invitational Tournament at Norman. In the doubles Williams and Turnbaugh advanced to the semi-finals in the winner's bracket.

Langenkamp and Shearer, returning lettermen, led the tennis squad for the 1954 conference grind.

Thinclads Run Away With City Championship

Under the guidance of Mr. William C. Lantz, the Central track team began the 1953 season by running away with the honors in its first meet with Stillwater, Ada, and Enid. This one was a quadrangle meet at Stillwater. They continued the good work by defeating Bartlesville and Sand Springs. The Braves placed first in the city meet, in the Edmond meet, and in the important regional meet. At the state meet they ranked fifth.
